

COMMERCIAL CONTRACTOR PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Union commercial roofing systems are sold direct to the highest quality and most reputable commercial roofing contractors. Union invites such contractors to contact Union's local commercial sales representative to apply to become part of Union's authorized network of contractors who are the only ones authorized to install roofs with weathertightness warranties. You may also fill out the "Contractor Profile" form available for downloading from our website. Following receipt by Union, you will be contacted to discuss the process necessary to become a Union authorized commercial roofing installer.

Union was founded in 1946 by Mr. J. E. Union and grew by providing quality products at a fair price with integrity as the foundation for relationships with its customers. Today's commercial roofing market is far more complex with greater demands than existed in the early days but the company's business philosophy remains the same. Union understands the vital role the commercial contractor has in installing good roofs and meeting the many requirements of building owners, architects, roofing consultants, general contractors and others. With ten manufacturing plants producing metal roofing systems, Union is proud of its efficient distribution network and ability to provide unmatched local service and support to its select contractor network. The core of Union's commercial roofing business will always be to work closely with our network of authorized roofing contractors and to work hard to insure quality roofs can be installed as desired and expected.
